HOW GAY-FRIENDLY ARE ZAGREB AND CROATIA?

Year after year, Zagreb is becoming more and more gay-friendly, as the gay population is also gaining numbers. This guide, the first Croatian Gay and Gay Friendly Guide, represents one of the first steps aimed to achieve wider awareness and expansion of this branch of tourism.

In Croatia, the Same-Sex Union Act, the Anti-Discrimination Act and a number of other legal acts forbid discrimination of individuals based on their sexual orientation in Croatia. Despite this, a certain level of intolerance still exists in the Croatian society, therefore, display of affection (hugging, kissing) is not recommended outside premises declared "strictly gay G."

Although Zagreb may not be as tolerant of gay lifestyle as Berlin or Madrid, one can still experience its relaxed atmosphere, meet warm and welcoming people, and feel the soul of the city strolling the streets of the old town. Gay and gay-friendly facilities recommended are listed in this guide. For more information, please visit: www.friendlycroatia.com

www.zagreb-pride.net

Zagreb Pride organization is a queer-feminist and anti-fascist, not-for-profit, volunteer-based, non-hierarchical group that opposes violence and discrimination of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, transsexual, intersexual and queer individuals. Zagreb Pride is the annual (LGBTIQ) protest-march and manifestation held in Zagreb, Croatia. It is one of the larger Eastern-European public queer political gatherings of around 500 people, with more and more participants from Western Europe coming and supporting the event every year. It first took place in 2002 and has been held every June/July since. Despite growing support for the event, it is considered a high risk rally. It is the only gay pride event in Croatia, and it is also of great importance for the neighboring countries, unable to organize their own gay pride events due to the predominantly hostile sociopolitical climate. Zagreb Pride supports any LGBTIQ effort and will provide help and assistance in order to organize pride events throughout Croatia, as well as in other countries of the Eastern and Southeastern Europe.

QUEER ZAGREB FESTIVAL

www.queerzagreb.org

Queer Zagreb is an international cultural festival, next scheduled to take place in May 2009. The festival is centred around the issue of sexual and gender minorities, and also presents various forms of art which comprises the theme of queer identity. Queer Zagreb organizes regular monthly queer film shows at the MM Centre, 25 Savska street.

GAY PROJECTS AND INVESTMENT

www.otvorenavrata.com

Otvorena Vrata ltd. investment and trading company has been operating in Zagreb since mid-2008. The company's mission is to invest into hospitality industry in Croatia focusing on the LGBT population. Currently, the company has three investors and is open to new investors. The first realized project is the g.bar lounge bar in the Zagreb city centre.
